L.A.'s Hot

When the sun sets, Hollywood VIPs steal behind these velvet ropes for nonstop party and play BY IAN DREW & AIMEE AGRESTI

Spider Club

Why it's hot From the glowing lanterns to the fabric-draped ceiling, this club evokes a No. Manicotti vibe. The sexy touch: a stripper pole - where Paris Hilton and Miss Phillip like to put on a show. When to go Monday is retro night with 80s hits, but it's Friday that really sizzles, thanks to uber-promoter Brent Holloman, whose party's include Michele Carter and Nicole Richie (her fiancé, DJ A.M., spins the tunes). Spider Club regular Jessica Simpson partied here on May 14 with Carmen Electra and Brittany Murphy!

Getting Inside the In Crowd

The Friday-night party at Spider Club on June 17 bumped like an all-star edition of FRE as Jessica Simpson, Christina Aguilera, Pik and a host of other celebs packed the house and commandeered neighboring tables by the dance floor. At 11 p.m., Kirsten Dunst and a gaggle of pals were the first to arrive, though she came without her on-again gay John Q. Hancock, who was surfing in Hawaii. A half-hour later Pik turned up, also sans boyfriend (The Buried Life star Cory Hart), and giddily danced around her table with a friend. Jessica and husband Nick Lachey strolled in around midnight and sat in a booth near the dookey. After 30 minutes together, Jessica got up to go drink and chat with some buddies. The not-so-Newlyweds didn't reunite again until 2 a.m., when they got together briefly to bump and grind to the music. Then Jessica settled down to talk to Wesley Velde, who was sitting in the next booth. (Velde's name, of course, is tight with Jessica's sis Ashley.) Across the room, Aguilera and her fiancé, Justin Townes Anderson, held court over her posse. The singer didn't seem to notice that Mandy Moore was parked one booth over. (Moore's boss, Zach Braff, was MIA.) The last to join the star-filled bash (hosted by L.A. party promoter Brent Holloman) was backstreet boy Kevin Richardson, who rolled in with his wife, Stella, around 1 a.m. to celebrate their fifth anniversary.
