SOULFUL STRUT

The bubbly flowed as the music industry kicked up its collective heels during a round of events and parties before and after Sunday's Grammy Awards ceremony at Staples

Center in Los Angeles. The Recording Academy hosted its annual MusiCares benefit dinner and show Friday at the Hollywood Palladium that featured Neil Young, Red Hot Chili Peppers, the Black Eyed Peas, Jeff Beck and Jamie Cullum performing the songs of Brian Wilson, 2005's MusiCares Person of the Year. Also that night, will.i.am of the Black Eyed Peas launched his record label with a tsunami benefit concert at Avalon in Hollywood that featured performances by Herbie Hancock, Carlos Santana and Macy Gray. Adam Levine of Maroon5 performed "This Love" with Justin Timberlake and will.i.am, and the latter two then joined "godfather of soul" James Brown for a rendition of his classic tune "Papa's Got a Brand New Bag."
